SPACE ROAD TRIP

Visit New Zealand space facilities after IAC 2025

3–10 October 2025

WELCOME TO AOTEAROA – NEW ZEALAND

Kia ora!

Just three hours from IAC 2025 is Queenstown International Airport. If you came to IAC from the other side of the planet, here is your chance to easily follow up and visit New Zealand's space-related locations and businesses while you are in the vicinity. It's your very good fortune that to do so requires travelling through some of the most beautiful tourist destinations in the world... and although you won't likely see any hobbits, you will see where they were.

It can be a bit of a mission to find your way around New Zealand if you are short of time, so here at Space Operations New Zealand we cordially invite you to join our Great Kiwi Space Road Trip, a self-drive, semi-guided tour of Southland and Warkworth so you can come and visit us.

On behalf of Aerospace New Zealand, we also invite you to attend the New Zealand Aerospace Summit in Christchurch as part of your tour.

Not everyone can join all of our itinerary, so if you want to drive around New Zealand at your own pace, bear in mind that we will be hosting "Open Homes" at Warkworth Space Centre and Awarua Satellite Ground Station for all of the week following IAC.

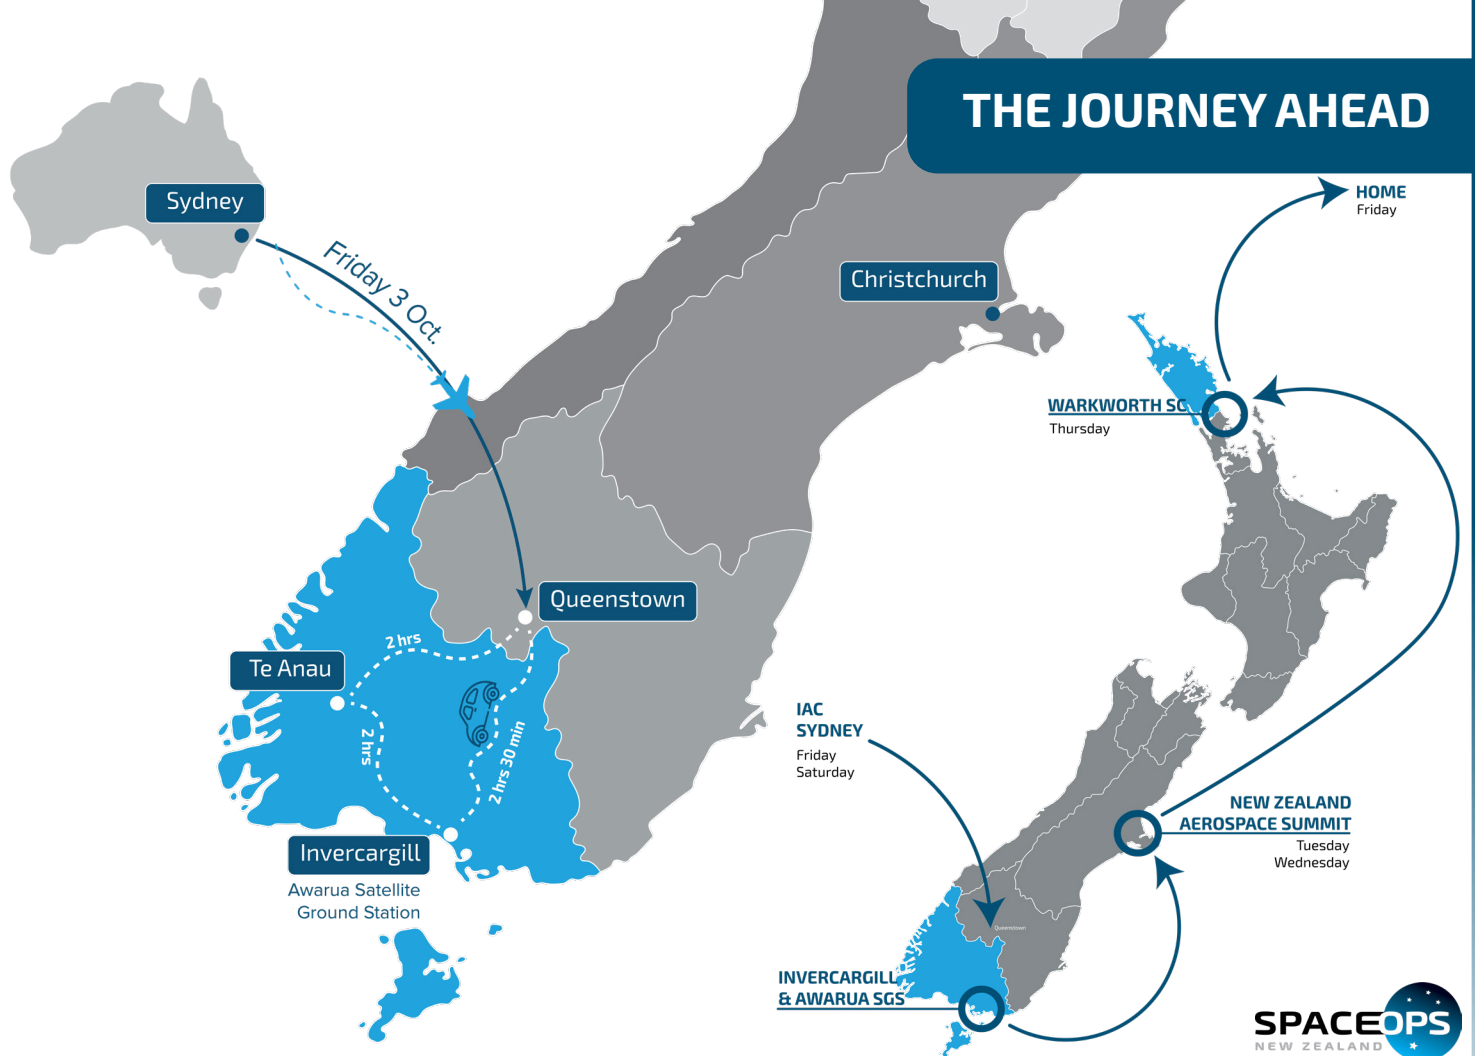

We would love you to join our Great Kiwi Space Road Trip, or visit our stations, so please register at office@spaceops.nz. Send any questions you may have to that address, too.
